

Healthy Weight, One Week at a Time

A 7-day plan of 100g carbs or less per day, with food & exercise logs.

“You don’t have to be perfect — you just have to keep going.”

 Progress over perfection

 One step at a time

 You are not alone

Every glass of water, every walk, every balanced plate is a win worth counting. Small choices, repeated, become big change — and we’re right here with you for all of them.

A simpler week of eating.

This booklet is a gentle, lower-carb starting point — 100 grams of carbohydrate a day, or less. That's well under a typical Western diet, but far from "no carbs." It leaves room for vegetables, fruit, beans, yogurt, and a modest serving of whole grains.

The goal isn't perfection. It's a steadier blood sugar, fewer spikes and crashes, and meals you can actually repeat. Use the menu as written, or swap meals you like — just keep an eye on the daily carb total.

Please read: This is general education, not personal medical or nutrition advice. Talk with Garcia Family Medicine before you start — especially if you take medication for diabetes or blood pressure, are pregnant or nursing, or have kidney disease. Lowering carbs can change how some medications affect you.

Your plan should fit you — let's tailor it together.

Build your plate.

■ 1/2 plate — vegetables

Leafy greens, broccoli, peppers, zucchini, green beans. Low-carb, high-fiber, fill up here.

■ 1/4 plate — protein

Eggs, chicken, fish, beef, tofu, Greek yogurt, beans. Keeps you full and steady.

■ 1/4 plate — smart carbs

1/2 cup quinoa, brown rice, sweet potato, beans, or a piece of fruit. This is where most of your 100g — or less — lives.

- ✓ Drink water or unsweetened drinks — liquid sugar adds up fastest
- ✓ Add healthy fats (olive oil, avocado, nuts) — they don't count toward carbs
- ✓ Aim for 25–30g of protein per meal to stay satisfied

Your week — Days 1 to 4.

Total	Weekly minutes →		L • M • H

Intensity: L = easy (can sing) · M = moderate (can talk) · H = hard (short of breath). Most weeks should be mostly moderate.

A week of easy movement.

Day	Focus	Simple option (20–30 min)
Mon	Walk	Brisk 25-min walk after a meal
Tue	Strength	Bodyweight: squats, wall push-ups, rows ×2–3 sets
Wed	Walk	Walk + 5 min easy stretching
Thu	Strength	Repeat Tuesday; add a 20-sec plank
Fri	Walk	Longer 30–40 min walk if you can
Sat	Active fun	Bike, dance, yard work, swim — your choice
Sun	Recover	Gentle stretch or rest day

Start where you are

Two 10-minute walks count as much as one 20-minute walk.

Anchor to habits

Walk after meals or pair strength with morning coffee.

Protect the joints

Good shoes, warm up easy, stop if there’s sharp pain.

Sleep counts

7+ hours supports appetite control and recovery.

Small steps, every week.

One steady week is a win. Repeat it, adjust what didn't fit, and bring your logs to your next visit — they tell us more than the scale alone. Weight is medical, and you don't have to figure it out by yourself.
